

MA in Environmental Politics

Keele University, UK

A one-year MA and MRes course taught in a university with a leading international reputation for learning, teaching and research on environmental politics, policy and action

Watch our YouTube video:

http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZB7O7k_rlos

Keele Environmental Politics Essay Prize

Awards for top essays by final year undergraduates;
£250, £150 and £100

Closing date: May 31, 2008

For details visit:

www.keele.ac.uk/depts/spire/

Teaching staff includes:

Chris Bailey (US environmental politics & policy); Philip Catney (local governance & environmental policy); Andrew Dobson (green political thought); Brian Doherty (environmental movements); Timothy Doyle (environmentalism in the global south); Luis Lobo-Guerrero (international relations & security studies) Sherilyn MacGregor (ecofeminism & ecological citizenship); Deirdre McKay (rural development & transnational migration); Jonathon Porritt (Visiting professor; Chair of UK Sustainable Development Commission); Stephen Quilley (wilderness & civilisation); David Schlosberg (Visiting professor; environmental justice); David Scrivener (environmental diplomacy) and John Vogler (international relations & the global commons).

KEELE
UNIVERSITY